

ENR SURVEYS

Engineering News-Record

Dear Green Contractor and Designer,

On the following pages is ENR Magazine's Top Green Construction & Design survey. This survey will be used to generate our Top Green Design Firms list and our Top Green Contractors list, both to appear in the new ENR Green Markets issue to be published in the September 18/25 issue of ENR. The rankings will be based on any 2022 domestic revenue from projects that have been registered with third-party green building or sustainable construction ratings organization. Any 2022 revenue from projects that are officially registered with a third-party rating group may be included in the survey, even if the project has not finally been certified. The registered project does not need to achieve certification, the registration will be sufficient to show intent to design toward a recognized set of green standards. This includes only the company revenue generated in 2022 from these projects and not the value of the entire project when completed.

NOTE: Projects that are not registered and being built specifically with certification as a goal should not be included, even where the contractor applies its own set of green construction standards, no matter how stringent. We wish to avoid subjective application of the term 'green building' to projects and revenue in the survey.

Regarding the measurement of clients' interest in green and sustainable construction in Question 14, this is purely a subjective assessment. We hope to gauge general interest in sustainability and how it (presumably) is increasing. We are also interested in the products and techniques you employ in designing and building sustainable projects, and where you get your information on Green Building Products and techniques.

We urge you to participate in the survey and look forward to hearing more from you about your work in sustainable design and construction and green building.
